

In search of Faculty Mentors for the CAHSI Local REU Program (Research Experiences for Undergraduates)

Why join us?

- Expand students' research knowledge at participating CAHSI institutions through exposure to research as a career pathway
- Mentor CAHSI undergraduates in the computing field
- Engage the next generation of computer researchers in professional development activities
- Learn from other researchers across CAHSI institutions
- Receive a stipend. The stipend rates are set by the CAHSI regions.

Eligibility

- Must be able to mentor undergraduate students with a growth mindset
- Must have a research record and a research alignment with CAHSI computing PhD-granting programs
- Must have a commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility in computing.

The CAHSI LREU faculty application is now open.

Faculty are matched to a student based on the student's research area interests/project preferences.
